Re: Visitor to the US

Dear Dr. Khan;

An organization offering classes or training to individuals has no obligation to inquire into the immigration status of the individuals. An organization employing an individual has the obligation of completing and maintaining the I-9 forms. A school certified by USCIS has an obligation to report violations of visa status when the individual is in the US on an F-1 or M-1 visa but that obligation would not extend to non-credited classes, seminars, or training sessions.

Should you have any questions, please advise me. Your attention in this matter is appreciated.

Sincerely,

James Hallagan
Attorney at law
